its Own Vendors at Annual Event

August 20, 2021 - LEBANON, PA – APR Supply Co. recently held its 19th Annual Buying Show in Hershey, PA on August 11th. Prior to the show, APR took the opportunity to host some of its top manufacturer partners and recognize a few for going above and beyond.

DiversiTech, a manufacturer of equipment pads, components and related HVACR products, was named APR's Vendor Innovator of the Year by APR VP of Supply Chain, Zachary Derr. "This award recognizes a partner who contributes in innovative ways to both APR and our industry. Most recently, they added fresh Aire UV, a leader in indoor air quality products to their portfolio," said Derr during the partner event.

Diablo, a tool manufacturer, was named APR's Vendor Partner of the Year. "This award recognizes a company who best represents a partner to APR. Diablo consistently participates in branch training and events, while expanding their product line and finding ways to make everyone more successful," stated Derr.

In addition to giving out a few awards, APR was also the recipient of one! Gohn & Stambaugh Inc, a long time APR plumbing and HVAC contractor that offers complete residential and commercial plumbing and HVAC services in central PA, presented APR with their 2021 Vendor of the Year award.
